
Empirical hydrological decoupling: In 2023, record national White Nile inundation occurred while Aweil East experienced drought.
In 2024, River Lol flooded catastrophically while White Nile levels dropped, confirming independent catchment dynamics.